BIG SLUMP IN RUBBER.

Antwerp, Sept. 18.—Depression in the rubber trade has caused an economic crisis here. Many rubber companies in the Congo have discharged their European agents and large bodies of native rubber collectors. Overproduction of rubber is causing prices to be reduced below the cost of gathering and transporting.

THE WEATHER REPORT.

Official Record and Forecast.—Washington, Sept. 18.—Generally low pressure prevails throughout the country, except in the North Pacific States, with a principal centre of depression over Southern Saskatchewan. Temperatures have risen considerably to the south of this low area, and are falling rapidly to the westward, with local showers and rising pressure. In the Ohio Valley, the Atlantic and Gulf states remain confined without temperature changes of consequence, while in the lake region and the West, except the extreme

Northwest, the weather was fair, with little change in temperature, except on the Southern California Coast, where there was a decided moderation from the abnormally high temperatures of Wednesday.

Local radii will continue Friday in the Atlantic and East Gulf states and probably on Saturday in the South. There will also be local showers Friday in the Northwest, extending Friday night and Saturday into the Upper Mississippi Valley and the upper Great Lakes.

Elsewhere it will be fair Friday and Saturday. It will be warmer Friday in the lake region, the Central Valleys and the Southwest, and cooler in the Northwest. It will be winner Saturday in the Central Plains States, the Missouri and Upper Mississippi Valleys.

For Western New York, generally fair to moderate Saturday; light to moderate variable winds.

able winds.

For Northern New England, unsettled and

somewhat cooler to day; fair Saturday; light to moderate variable winds.

moderate variable winds.

The winds along the North Atlantic, Middle Atlantic and the Atlantic Coast will be light to moderate; East Gulf Coast, light to moderate; mostly southeast and south. West

Gulf Coast, light to moderate east and south.

For the high seas, light to moderate variable winds, becoming moderate in upper waters; moderate northwest and south, shifting to northwest Friday night and Saturday.

Forecast for Special Localities.—For Eastern New York, fair in southern portion to day; fair unsettled in northern portion to day; fair moderate northwest and south, shifting to northwest Friday night and Saturday.

ARMY AND NAVY NOTES.

Officers Concerned Over Attack

on Mileage Allowance.

[From the Tribune Bureau]

Washington, September 18.

MAY BE GRANTED ACTUAL EXPENSES.—Army and navy officers are a little concerned over the prospect of an attack on the allowance for mileage for officers. It has been proposed to do away entirely with the payment of mileage to officers traveling under official orders and the substitution therefor of an allowance for actual expenses, on the theory that this would effect a great saving to the government.

An alternative proposed contemplates the reduction of the allowance from seven to five cents a mile. Allowance by expenses would be highly unsatisfactory to the officers, because rarely would it be possible for them to secure reimbursement for their actual outlay. Furthermore, it will be shown by the War Department and Navy Department in any comment on the subject to Congress that it would necessitate a considerable increase of the force of clerks in the field, the departments and the auditors of offices. It would also be necessary to establish a schedule of allowances, and there would be a constant friction and controversy as a result of the individual claims.

A reduction of mileage even by two cents would operate to the decided disad-vantage of officers, with little saving to the government.
